Camp Fire Girls Selling Chocolate Creams, Mints

Assorted chocolate creams will be sold by Los Angeles Camp Fire Girls in addition to their traditional chocolate-covered mints, announced Mrs. Irving R. Eastin, candy chair man for the Los Angeles Area Council.

The candy sale, involving over 14,000 Camp Fire Girls, Blue Birds, and Horizon Club girls, began Friday and will continue through May 13. The sale will be directed and girls will be supervised by adult volunteers and parents.

MONEY EARNED finances individual girl and group expenses, pays for improvements at Camp Yallani, the Council's resident camp in the San Bernardino Mountains, and mints that portion of the Council's operating budget not supplied by Community Chest funds.

A goal of 260,000 units of candy to be sold by May 13 has been established, according to Mrs. Eastin. Chocolate creams are packed in $1 units and mints are in two packs priced at two for $1, she said. Girls will sell in the area served by the Los Angeles Area Council of Camp Fire Girls, which covers metropolitan Los Angeles and suburban areas from Saugus to San Pedro and from Alhambra to the Pacific Palisades.

SHIRLEY TEMPLE was a Camp Fire Girl for three years at the height of her child-acting career. She passed her Woodgatherer's rank and at one time was president of her group, according to her former leader, Mrs. Margaret Sterett of Canoga Park. She enjoyed hiking and the out-of-doors and took an active part in skits and creative dramatics in her group. She purchased candy from girls at NBC studios to launch the sale and commended the organization for its character building values.

"I don't see how people can resist these delicious chocolates especially when they benefit such a worthwhile organization," Shirley commented as she shared her purchases with crew members filming her TV series at NBC studios.
